

WRANGLING MOST OF TIME

Middlebury and Norwich Didn't Score Either

LAITER PROVED STRONGER

Cadets Twice Placed Ball on Middlebury's 15-yard Line, but Were Sent Back for Outside Work and Were Compelled to Punt.

Northfield, Oct. 22.—The football game between Norwich and Middlebury played here Saturday afternoon resulted in a tie, neither team being able to place the ball behind the goal posts. The teams were very evenly matched in weight. During both halves both teams played hard when they played, but more time was taken up in discussions than in playing. The visitors were continually kicking and once in the first half would have forfeited the game to Norwich because of a decision against them, but Capt. Huntley wanted to play the game, and conceded to them. Once in the first half and once in the second Norwich had the ball on Middlebury's fifteen yard line when they were penalized for offside play, 25 yards, and were forced to punt to Middlebury. The only feature of the game was an end run by Stitt which netted 45 yards. The ball was in Middlebury's territory during the entire game, and no time was the Norwich goal in danger. On Wednesday Norwich will line up against Montpelier seminary, before going to Providence, R. I., Saturday, where they will play Brown university. The line up:

The two boys were companions. Crossmore borrowed a shotgun from an older boy, Harvey Case, and accompanied by Childs went rabbit hunting to "the ledge," off Hanover street. Crossmore heard a noise in the bushes, reached the gun, and turned around. As he did, Childs ran in front of the barrel, hitting it and causing the gun to fire. NEW YORK NOW AWAKE

General Interests Supercede General Apathy

IN THE BIG CAMPAIGN

Hearst Loses, Hughes Gains During the Week—Statement Based on the Correspondent's Own Personal Observation.

New York, Oct. 22.—The New York correspondent of the Boston Herald sends his paper the following:

New York is waking up, city and state. It has woken on its hands, and heart on its mind. The gladiatorial act between the Plumberbund, the Slenderbund and the Peopl is being fought with ink and sulphuric breaths, with writs, injuries, imprecations, fireworks, flags and fanfares, with accusations and counter-accusations, with district attorneys, with Tammany in a white robe, and her sweet sister of Kings county in full grown wings. Political knives and axes are out, leader lights leader, the clash rings to heaven, and an amazed world looks on with growing eagerness for the next act. Two weeks hence the voters will take a hand. Then we shall see what we shall see.

Gen. Apathy has turned over the command to Gen. Interest. There has been a great change in a week. Even the city of New York wakes to the fact that this is something more than a light between the owner of many yellow newspapers and the investigator of the insurance scandals. The men who didn't register an wish they had taken the trouble, it is always said. Here in the city, the registration is altogether too far below that of the presidential campaign. There are some 50,000 names on last year's list that are not on this year's, and there is reason for the belief that the owners of the names are still alive—after a fashion. They bores and still walk about.

The Democratic party in the Empire state this year is not represented by the head of the ticket; it is not represented by "Fing" Conners, its state chairman; it is not represented by Murphy, chief of Tammany; it is not represented by McCarran, boss of Brooklyn; it is not represented by McEllan, mayor of New York; it is not represented by anybody who holds out "regularity" in this campaign. Was ever party in such a plight? What are the leaders who believe in their country and their kind do but vote for Hughes?

Saturday wagons were going about town bearing huge placards which announced the breaking away of the Municipal Ownership League. Hearst had thought he owned this league, but the league says it owns itself, and the placards say that Hearst "betrayed" it. The Brooklyn Municipal Ownership League worked up a tremendous vote for Hearst in the mayoralty campaign; now it breaks away from him, defies him, and sends its band wagons into Manhattan in order that the burghers of the Isle may know what's going on.

There is a great racket which shoots shrieking to the sky; up and up it climbs, aweing the multitude, attracting all the eyes of the population, and opening all its throats. Higher it goes, and higher, and then of a sudden bursts into myriad stars of many-colored flame which break away from its swift course. In an instant there is nothing but a hot stick hissing downward to the sea. That is Hearst's campaign. It began with jets of flame, and flew up the state to the St. Lawrence, and the rocks cried "Oh!" and "ah!" and "ain't he elegant!" And then the flying yellow meteor burst, sent into tumbling parts, and now a hallowed stick comes floating down the Hudson.

So many are the reports of organizations that are breaking away from Hearst that it is difficult to believe that all are truly told. If half of them are true, though, Hearst must lose the election. But an election isn't lost until the votes are cast. Alas, won't beat Hearst. Some of the men who abuse him fear him; others are jealous of him. Sound public opinion will do the work; that and that only can do it. To that opinion Hughes appeals. It is the safeguard of the body politic.

Around the Gilsey house, where the Hearst Independence League (Incorporated) has its headquarters, you see the Hearst worker in soulful combination. Around Tammany Hall you see Tammany's workers. If you brought the two lots together and removed their campaign buttons, you couldn't tell the Hearst workers from Tammany workers. They are the same cut of the cloth.

If you sum the week up, thus: Hughes gains, Hearst loses. This statement is not based on anything that politicians say; it is in no way influenced by political committees. It is based upon my own observation at mass meetings, and upon my conversations with all sorts of men in all sorts of places, up state and down.

THE ROYAL BOX

The emperor of Austria scarcely ever shakes hands, even with the most exalted visitors or privileged persons. His usual form of greeting is a courtly bow.

The national gift of Denmark to King Hakon and Queen Maud on their accession to the throne of Norway consisted of five pictures and a service of silver plate of 150 pieces.

Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria is a big bearded man of forty-five and was elected the ruler of stormy Bulgaria in 1887. His consulting ambition is to become king, but, despite his affability, his reign is not popular, and he lives in constant dread of assassination.

King Edward disbursts a good deal of money in tips every year. Each visit to one of his subjects costs him from $1,000 to $3,000. At shooting parties the game beaters get $15 each and the gamekeepers $25 or $30 each. When he goes abroad he does not visit to the kaiser. He gave away nearly $10,000 in this way.

Farm Notes. Alfalfa is no lazy man's crop. Full plowing is the best on most farms.

Just watch the cornfields grin from ear to ear. If you are afraid of work you better get alfalfa alone. All men who keep bees are not necessarily bee keepers. Alfalfa must have loose soil, and it can't stand wet feet. Buying a manure spreader beats buying commercial fertilizer. Corn cut before the frost gets it with more to the cows than that which is caught—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

It Takes Nerve

Everything depends upon your nerves. It is nerve force that causes the brain to direct the motion of your body; it is nerve force that causes your heart to pulsate, and send the blood through your veins; it is nerve force that causes your stomach to digest food, your kidneys to filter the blood, and the liver to secrete bile.

In fact, nerve force is the power that runs your body, so if you feel worn-out, irritable, nervous, cannot sleep, or eat well, have pain or misery anywhere, your nerves are weak, and your system run-down. To restore this vitality, take Dr. Miles' Nerve which will strengthen and build up the nerves. You cannot be healthy without strong nerves.

"For eighteen years Dr. Miles' Nerve and Anti-Pain Pills have been my close companions. Early in married life, while raising children, my nerves became all worn-out—could not sleep, had no appetite; indigestion very bad, and had such awful dizzy spells. Then I began using Dr. Miles' Nerve and at once I began to improve, and soon found myself in perfect health."

HAD TO BE LOCKED UP

E. A. Norwood Jailed at Newane and Then Admitted to Bail.

Brattleboro, Oct. 22.—E. A. Norwood of Redlands, Cal., recently indicted in Windham county on the charge of embezzling $12,000 belonging to the Hannah Towns estate of Bellows Falls, and who was brought from California to Vermont last week by Sheriff Arthur Thompson of Bellows Falls, was brought to Brattleboro Saturday to give bail for his appearance at the next term of county court.

Attorney General C. C. Fitts represented the state and H. D. Ryder of Bellows Falls represented Norwood. At a hearing before Fred B. Pier of Rawsonville, assistant judge of the county court, Norwood made full restitution for the amount claimed, and the attorney general suggested that bail on the indictment be fixed at $1,000, which was agreeable to the court.

A technical question arose as to whether it would be legal to accept bail and release the prisoner unless the latter was first confined in the county jail. It was decided that such a proceeding would not be legal.

Norwood was taken to Newfane in an automobile and was locked in jail. He was immediately taken out of jail and bail papers were executed. H. D. Ryder, M. H. Ray and A. L. Field of Bellows Falls became bondsmen.

It is understood that Norwood, who is guardian of Mrs. Towns, has invested the funds profitably in California, and that the trouble at this time has arisen from a difference of judgment as to the right of certain persons to demand the return of the funds.
